Recurring and ad-hoc expenses

| vendor                 | description                       | amount   | category      |
|------------------------|-----------------------------------|----------|---------------|
| Claude Max (Anthropic) | AI tooling, $100/mo x 6          | $600.00 | business      |
| RunPod                 | CUDA spot pods (acceptance tests) | $14.50  | grant compute |
| HelloBonsai            | Invoicing subscription (H1)       | $150.00 | business      |

Total H1 business expenses: $764.50. Claude Max is a personal subscription on the business card, deducted as a German business expense; its input boundary is public HF/TL code and Bram's own drafts only (never client research material or embargoed security detail).

Note for the annual return

RunPod is billed against the grant compute line. All receipts retained in Finance/. Vorsteuer on qualifying expenses is reclaimable via the monthly UStVA.
